Silsby Free Public Library.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN.

The Library has received during the last year a new bird case, the generous gift of J. Freeman Dickey of Holyoke.

Wm. H. Barney has donated an excellent portrait of the late Aaron W. Sparling. Other friends have remembered the institution, whose public spirit is evidence that Acworth sends away many noble sons and daughters who cannot forget their native town.

Eleven monthly and three weekly publications have been engaged for the year 1899, and from the way these works are read it is unsafe to suggest discontinuance.

Four thousand one hundred and sixty-eight books and other publications have been loaned during the year, making the average a little more than eighty each week.

With the free use of nearly nineteen hundred books, eleven monthly magazines, and three weekly papers, we certainly enjoy reading privileges for which we should be grateful.

I am of opinion that more heat should be introduced into the building during the coldest weather, and more fuel has been purchased to meet this urgent need.

In May last all of the wood work connected with the exterior of the building was served with new paint, and the interior with Crocket's preservative.

With the exception of the floor, but little preservative will be needed during the next five years.

Our Library is the pride of the town, it is the place where visitors are taken, it is the gem of our beautiful village, and it remains for us to fulfil the wishes of its founder by handing it down to the next generation unimpaired.

Once more thanking the trustees and the public for confidence shown, I herewith submit my seventh annual report.

Respectfully,

H. N. HAYWARD, Librarian.

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

Being unexpectedly called upon to again take charge of the Schools, I entered upon my duties, remembering that it was of no use to expect uniformity of opinion in this world. While engaged in the work, the fact was presented to my mind as never before, and after considering the situation, reached the conclusion that it was best not to worry others, or ourselves with what cannot be remedied.

TEACHERS.

Although they have met with varying success, yet I believe all have worked conscientiously for the best good of the schools committed to their care. Three of the number were superior and led their pupils to a high standard and condition exhibiting the advantage of experience, tact and Normal training.

TEXT BOOKS.

The crying need is new geographys and arithmetics, those now used are worn and mutilated, and are no credit to the community. It is hoped now that the boundaries of our own country can be determined, that new geographys as well as arithmetics will be secured, and that the new books will be used with ordinary care and prudence.

PARENTS.

Allow me to ask the parents to insist upon perfect obedience in school and never criticise the teacher, in the presence of the child. Comments upon their learning, or methods, the repetition and recital of the trivial incidents of the school-room and play grounds, should always be forbidden.

In all cases freely give the united support and co-operation which is justly a teachers due, and which will encourage and strengthen them in their work, and result in the increased advancement and prosperity of our schools.

Thanking the people for valuable suggestions and their unbounded charity, I herewith submit my third annual report.

Respectfully,

H. N. HAYWARD, Supt.
